CONVENTION OF WALTHER LEAGUE HELD

Sessions Held Saturday,
Sunday in Chicago, Paul
Vetter Presides

The eleventh annual convention of the Northern Illinois District of the International Walther League, young people's organization of the Lutheran church, was held in Chicago last week-end. Two business sessions, one Saturday afternoon and another Sunday, were held with Paul Vetter, president of the league, presiding.

The business of the convention consisted of reports of progress on the program of the League during the past year and resolutions for the continuance and expansion for the coming year, especially in the fuller participation in the reorganized and enlarged program.

The Sunday session was opened with a service at which the newly sponsored choral union made its first public appearance under the baton of Prof. Walter Sassemannshausen. The program featured particularly the works of Johann Sebastian Bach. At this service a sermon was preached by the Rev. Rupprecht on the convention motto "Jesus Only."

The election of officers resulted in the choice of: Edwin Kuecker being chosen president; Walter Oehler, vice president; Miss Edna Weideman, recording secretary; Miss Lucile Wismar, corresponding secretary; Fred Thieme, treasurer; the Rev. C. F. Dankworth, spiritual adviser; and Miss Meta Vetter, Paul Vetter and Wm. Zeiter, members of the executive board.

This was the largest group assembled at a convention in this district with more than 1100 paid registrations and many guests attended who were not registered.

Saturday evening the fellowship dinner was held in the brilliantly chandeliered grand ballroom where a turkey dinner was served. The speaker of the evening was the Rev. E. Frenk, Ph.D., who spoke "My Brother's Keeper." Dr. Frenk presented his topic in an interesting and instructive manner. A diversified program made this banquet memorable and included vocal solos by Waldemar Schreuder, winner of the Tribune music land festival, Miss Ruth Schmidt, Kurt Zimmermann, also the vocal ensemble of the Roosevelt high school under the able direction of E. Bergstrasser. An interesting feature was a drum performance by B. Smith, national champion high school drummer in 1934. G. Goebel, NBC and WLS radio tenor sang cowboy songs. A reading by Miss Lyla Handke, was applauded. Community singing was under the leadership of Albert Miller. Otto Kochneke, of Arlington Heights was toastmaster.

Sunday evening a musical variety program was presented by the Valparaiso University vested choir, on this program there was featured Mrs. Schewpe, soprano, Helen Dvorak, violin, F. Schewpe, baritone under the direction of Schewpe. The convention committee was headed by Wm. Zeiter, chairman.

This convention more than others promoted the inspiration, plans and guidance needed to carry out the comprehensive program which is the objective of the Walther League and which in a large measure is instrumental in training and educating our group of young Lutherans to become the leaders in their church in the future as well as building into the group sound ideals of citizenship and humanity.

START MOVE FOR GLENVIEW GRADE SEPARATION

Filing of three condemnation suits for right of way last week opened action for the construction of a grade separation to put Waukegan road underneath the Milwaukee railroad tracks at Glenview.

Art Consoer, Arlington Heights village engineer was host Monday evening to "the boys," numbering fourteen, all members of the Arlington Heights official family in some capacity. The cocktails, were taken at the Consoer office; the dinner at eight in Room 320 of the Harding Restaurant and the show at the Palace.

Mr. Consoer's official relationship with the village of Arlington Heights had nothing to do with the event. Art made it distinctly understood that the invitation came as a matter of personal friendship that has developed in recent years between him and the people in Arlington Heights. He told the boys that evening that a trip to an Arlington Heights board meeting gave him more pleasure than an evening at bridge with the ladies.

20 Apply For Postmastership At Arlington

A total of twenty applications are reported to have been made for the postmastership at Arlington Heights. Tuesday was the last day for filing applications. The applications will be considered under a presidential order and not under civil service rules or regulations.

There will be no examination. Applicants will be rated on their individual education, training, business experience and fitness.

The applicants for the Arlington Heights office include those with special postal training as well as those who are depending upon their political affiliations to strengthen their position.

Regardless of who is appointed, there will be no change or vacancies in the clerks or carriers as they are all under civil service.

Ben Helfers, the present postmaster, entered postal work as an employee under Wm. F. Meyer and upon the retirement of the latter was appointed to the position in 1926.

PUFFER'S ELECTION WAS LEGAL

Judge Kelly Indicates He Will Uphold Election of New County Supt.

While there has been little doubt in the minds of the majority of the peoples relative to the legality of the election of Noble J. Puffer, of Palatine, as county superintendent of schools, even the small possibility that he might never be seated was removed last Thursday when Superior Judge James J. Kelly indicated that he would deny the mandamus proceedings that had been instituted by the present incumbent, Otto F. Aken, who has held that Mr. Puffer was not properly qualified for the office.

The judge gave the petitioner until Feb. 18, to amend his petition or to quote any authority the petitioners may have supporting their action. Otherwise, the case will be dismissed.

Among other things the petition asked that the county board be restrained from interfering with the office tenure of Mr. Aken; that his salary be continued and that Mr. Puffer was not qualified. The judge pointed out that no attempt had been made by the county board to oust Mr. Aken, his pay had not been interfered with and that Mr. Puffer held a proper election certificate offered by state authority. The judge added that in his opinion Mr. Puffer could take office any time he desired.

Even prior to the recent election rumors were circulated that Mr. Puffer would never be allowed to take office. Any charges that were made at that time were not taken seriously by those acquainted with the full details and the present indications are that Mr. Puffer will not be further embarrassed by either rumors or court action.

Laymen League Play Is Presented Next Week

The Lutheran Laymen League is sponsoring a play called "Dust of the Earth," to be presented next Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 20 and 21. This tenderly human drama has back of it a long record of success. It's one of the outstanding plays for amateur production. Many pathetic and thrilling scenes are encountered before the drama moves swiftly to a close. Plenty of comedy enriches the play. This is provided by the light-hearted Jerry and Miss Arabella, the village gossip. The pathetic mystery is, who is Wandering Tom and who is little Nell.

Puffer is Chairman At Educator's Meeting In Chicago Last Week

Noble J. Puffer, county superintendent of schools elect, served as chairman of the rural section of the regional conference of the Progressive Education association which held its annual meeting in Chicago Saturday. More than one thousand leading superintendents, principals, and teachers attended the final session.

The theme of the conference was "the school is maintained for the child, not the child for the school." Speakers at the meeting said that education must provide the greatest opportunity for full and complete individual development of the child. Mass production in education is unpardonable. School attendance must be a pleasant experience for the child, where sympathetic treatment of his individual problems is given.

Carleton Washburne of Winnetka acted as chairman of the afternoon session where nationally-known figures addressed the group, discussing methods of making schools truly progressive.

These boys do not get out to a show very often and the vaudeville and picture topped off an evening that was as near "night life" as these boys will probably ever get.

Note—The editor does not know what stories these boys told their wives in order to get off for that evening but is taking a chance that the wives know all about that evening.

SCOUT HEADS PROMOTE NEW FINANCE PLAN

Scouting Club Member- ship Supports Work of Council

Meeting under the leadership of its new chairmen, the Northwest Suburban Boy Scout council finance committee formulated a definite plan for raising sufficient funds to adequately finance the scout program in the Northwest Suburban area. For the past several years although consistent growth in membership had been reported, the general administration and the development of Scouting, Cubbing and SeaScouting has been seriously handicapped through the lack of sufficient funds.

As the work of practically every other council committee hinged either directly or indirectly upon adequate finances, the present officials plan to do everything possible to remove this obstacle. The vehicle through which parents of scouts, members of institutions sponsoring troops, scouters, friends of scouting, business men and other citizens will be asked to support scouting is through the Scouting club.

Membership will be on the same basis as previous years varying from $2.50 up. Emphasis is to be given to the need for individuals supporting one or more boys in Scouting at the approximate cost of $5 per year. In many instances the parents are doing this, but there are hundreds of boys in the area enjoying the constructive influence of Scouting or Cubbing program who come from homes where all available funds are needed for other things and no boys should be denied of the Scout program because of that fact.

One of the lowest economic budgets in the history of the council has been adopted for 1935. It is only two-thirds of the operating cost of a few years ago in spite of the fact that the council is at the present time serving twice as many boys. Each troop, district and community in the council area is beginning at once to raise its portion of the operating expense. In many instances quotas have already been assigned and approved. In others it is expected the quota will be applied shortly.

Each group is to have its January and February allotment paid prior to the council meeting to be held February 25. The finance committee working with Chairman Stewart consists of Vern Lippert of Barrington; George Miniberg of Palatine; Stephen Harrington of Mt. Prospect; W. A. Miles of Arlington Heights, and George Wells of Park Ridge.

Present local members of the Scouting club are:

Arlington Heights—E. Andrews, Edward Dearie, W. A. Miles, F. O. Proctor, Otto E. Schwartz, George Schneberger.

Mt. Prospect—D. J. Winn, John F. Lee, Mt. Prospect Lions Club, G. N. Cunningham, R. E. Terpening, Wyman Lahtiinen, William Busse, H. W. Carlson, Ralph Gould.

Wheeling—Marshall Bolling, Palatine—G. H. Herrmann, American Legion Auxiliary, Dr. R. F. Fosket, A. R. Godknecht, Frank F. Daniels, A. R. Skibbe, L. J. Nangle, American Legion, H. A. Kincaid, M. C. Greener, Mrs. A. G. Smith, Charles L. Wente, Noble J. Puffer, Boy Scouts Mothers Auxiliary, Edward Neagle, George Voss, C. Hildebrandt.

A feature of the plan as presented by Major Allen was parking space beneath the elevated structure. Cross streets would pass at their present level beneath the twin elevation structure.

He showed that in view of the present public works construction policy of the federal government that these plans could be pushed by federal aid, and added that none of the plans considered local expenditure.

In discussing the plan the engineer replied to charges of it being visionary by pointing out that 20 years ago when Des Plaines was a village of mud streets that the present-day pavements and improvements seemed as visionary as does this plan today.

The plan would remove all of Des Plaines four downtown railroad crossings, no one of which has been without its deaths from trains, and make such accidents impossible.

According to Mr. Baker's announcement, January payments will be for 50 per cent of the base at $2.10, for 20 per cent of the base at $1.30, and for the surplus at $1.18. These are gross prices.

The report further states that class I sales dropped 6 per cent, and total production approximately 2 per cent. Total deliveries for January were 119,925,000 pounds as compared with 121,579,000 pounds for December.

Of this January milk, 61.1 per cent is paid for by the distributors at $2.10 per hundredweights, which is a blend of the first half of the month at $2 and the second half at $2.20. Of the total milk 19.9 per cent was paid for at $1.30 per hundredweight, and 19 per cent at $1.18 as surplus.

The board of directors of the Pure Milk association has announced that it is following the direction of resolutions passed at practically all district meetings in attempting to work out with the distributors a written contract covering direct sale of association milk.

This contract is so drawn that the association milk used by distributors will be paid for in the highest possible classification to prevent large quantities of milk from falling into cheap manufacturing classes.

Herald To Start New Type of Delivery Service

With this issue, The Herald inauguates a new type of delivery service to its readers. This new step in delivery service is not an experiment in community newspaper distribution, as it has been adopted in a number of other communities. The many merits of the plan, however, offer a reasonable assurance that it will be well received by our readers and we feel sure that its permanency as a definite policy is assured.

Under the new delivery service plan the complete coverage feature of The Herald will continue uninterrupted. Every family in Arlington Heights, will continue to receive The Herald each week, but with more definite assurance than in the past. This is guaranteed by the fact that under this new plan, delivery boys will have increased responsibility. Delivery of papers will be made in accordance with the individual readers wishes, and not merely thrown on the front porch. And because of the "selfish motive" on the part of each carrier to see that every family in his district receives a copy of the paper, which ultimately determines the carriers' earning capacity, we feel sure that this plan will be a success.

Under this new setup, each carrier will own and control his own route. The earnings and profits of the carrier will depend on his faithful delivery service to each family on his route. Once each month or every quarter, each carrier will personally call and collect 10 cents a month or 25 cents for three months from each family for the delivery of The Herald, he has given them. The profit these carriers receive from these collections will represent their earnings. The payment of this delivery charge is Not Compulsory and carriers will collect Only from those who can afford to or are willing to pay this small charge. Every family on every route will receive a copy of the Herald regardless of whether they pay or not.

We wish to definitely advise our readers that the ten cents they will give to their carrier is not a charge for The Herald, but a reward for faithful service. Each carrier will be given enough papers each week to deliver a copy to every family, without charge. We feel sure that The Herald contains that amount of value to its readers and the small delivery charge paid to these carriers is reasonable.

Before the end of the month, you will be furnished with a receipt card upon which will be recorded any monies you will pay to these carriers, who will carry proper credentials when calling.

All of the contestants in the campaign are making a thorough canvass that will cover every home in Arlington Heights and Mt. Prospect.

Every one who is old enough to spend money will be asked to trade with the co-operating merchants and save coupons for that particular contestant. The contestants have a pledge card that they will ask their friends and acquaintances to sign, saying that they will save their coupons for that particular contestant, who from time to time will call and pick them up.

It costs you nothing to assist some deserving young man or woman to win one of the free scholarships or awards of credit.

When you sign a card you do not obligate yourself except that you will save the coupons you receive for that particular contestant, who from time to time will call and pick them up.

All participating merchants will give each purchaser scholarship coupons, in the same amount, for all cash purchases or the payment of bills. They started giving these coupons out on Thursday.

Observers Notes

February, month that brings To us wortlier souls than kings, Lincoln brave, and Washington, Valiant men still leading on; Susan Anthony who broke Woman's chain with Spartans stroke; Chains that bound them from their right, She broke with her tremendous might; Why should we now whine and wail, Right and justice must prevail; February leads in spring; Soon the bird of here will sing; And the Robins cheerio, Will bring courage as we go.

A noble triumvirate February brings to us, Lincoln the 12th; Susan Anthony the 15th, and George Washington the 22nd. And don't forget your good Saint Valentine February 14th.

Why be afraid or dread winter when we are in February and spring is just in the offing? Some of us oldsters remember Februaries when farmers sowed their oats and March brought violets and buttercups.

Wonder how it would affect us if we were to go a whole week without telephone or radio? Sometimes we get vexed at the radio rehearsals of crime and disagreeable things going on in the world today, and we feel like shutting it off, yet when recall all it brings us of enlightening and helpful things we do not want to lose its voice.

The discussions in the Senate on entrance into the World Court was well worth hearing. Why even Huey Long has given us more humor than all the others put together. Then we, within the past three years, have taken a regular college course in lectures over radio, have heard the most helpful sermons and the grandest music. How could one without a car shut in this icy weather, do without the radio?

Speaking of good deeds, it was a kindly good deed when Harriet Friske told us how to see the eclipse of the sun without straining our eyes looking through smoked glass. This easier way was to set a vessel of water, pan, nail or tub, out in an open space and there you could see a plain reflection of the eclipse.

Another good deed, now right off the bat ("American") an always kind street commissioner saw one of our women friends struggling along over the icy pavement who felt she couldn't afford to risk a fall. It was then this kind village official took Mrs. Draper over the long way to her home. Ask her if she doesn't call that his one good deed.

Here this very day comes the word of a woman in a Chicago home for retired people, Mrs. Schoonover, who is today one hundred and one years old, when asked how she attained such a remarkable age, replied, "By mind my own business." Ouch, think of such a kind deed, as that extended through 101 years. Think of it, you who are annoyed by persons who don't mind their own business and you will realize this long extended good deed of Mrs. Schoonover.

Yesterday afternoon listening in vain to hear the "merry sleigh go by" up to our "garden gate" drove Mrs. George Peterson bringing our cheerful friend, Mrs. D. G. Beatty. I'm sure we vote "check and double check" (as Andy says) to Mrs. Peterson's good deed, and to both friends long credit marks for a good deed. That left a trail of sunshine behind it for us.

Coming along the street one day last week met a friend, a business man, has credit on our list for more than one good deed, and beaming from his face we knew he had a good deed to place him square for the day. Here it is, the North Side State bank is reported to pay soon, a five per cent "dividend" to depositors. It is a pleasing rumor and can do no harm even if like Volivas report that the end of the world was to take place a certain date. "Tis better to have hoped and lost than never to have hoped at all."

Susan B. Anthony, whose birthday is February 15, was one of those noble women who endured abuse and blame for the valiant fight she made for women's right to vote and be a citizen with her God given rights. Susan Anthony's great good deed goes ringing down the ages, and is now evidenced in the number of capable women in positions of trust and honor. Why don't women honor her birthday?

Here is one woman (a Hoosier, too), whose good deed through her restored right is the only woman in the Indiana legislature won the passage of her bill today that would put down itching palms in the guise of aching hearts. Her bill passed unanimously and with the following clincher, put in by an Indianapolis clergyman, a member of the assembly to insure that it cannot be brought up again. This is the good deed of Mrs. Roberta West Nicholson.

The Ground Hog whose Missus told him with authority after women got their suffrage that after this "heres her language" from now on I'll attend to this shadow business. So we are not one bit scared here at noon ground hog day, that no shadow has been visible of ground hog or hogs of any other sort.

Whose scared at a shadow away? Did you ever wilt down in the harness at the beginning of a new day, just shrink altogether and feel you could not go through the day? After the sun came up and you traveled farther through the day, you felt new courage to go on until the sunset came, you were stronger than at dawn.

When the morning light began, Then I said "I never can Go all day."

Yet as farther on I strode, Light and lighter grew my load On the way.

Hindrances that loomed so vast, Gave way as along I passed And its found.

Every step some good unfold, That my guide book left untold, Spread around.

All of morning's fear and dread, Of the day had somehow fled, And a song.

In my heart began to sing, As the days for journeying Led along.

As I went days farther length, Much I marveled at the strength That was mine.

When the eventime came on Looking back to unto its dawn, To its far decline.

I thanked God that all the way, As I journey day by day I have found.

Strength for every given task, This alone is all I ask, While I stay.

Dear me! So many men of many minds all bent on the best good to make this old world better. Father Coughlin with his broad, earnest zeal to form a league taking all American citizens of whatever creed, tribe or nation, to stand for the preservation of our nation as a land of liberty, justice and truth.

Comes another, Dr. Bradley, advocating life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness under the Constitution of the U. S. A. Both men emphasize the conditions and privilege of joining their league or army, the pledge is to stand for our country, no matter what their creed or lack of creed, belief or unbelief. Father Coughlin's army and Dr. Bradley's crusaders are both working in a grand cause.

However, when I read their high and noble purposes and their earnest efforts in the cause of right for our country, I wish they made one qualification for entrance into their band for the preservation of our country—that qualification should be belief in God and the brotherhood of man.

How about beginning to set things right in our own town. Some one asked me today who should a person go to get, or apply for relief. If it is for physical ills our village has a noble corps of doctors, dentists and chiropodists. If it is for spiritual relief our several churches have ministers, pastors and priests who could be referred to.

If it is for financial relief, the less we say about that, the better. Having learned banks have in the past afforded a means of relief to those overburdened with financial assets, all in all am ignorant on the relief question. Wolcott recommends Konjola, another mustero or wizard oil. It's just too bad I couldn't tell you the party you seek.

Sunday morning the time for Sunday school and church services didn't seem a suitable time for those heavenly bodies, sun and moon, to put on a show. No wonder that in spite of all our smoked glasses and vessels of water to reflect the show, it proved a failure.

'Twas the hour for church services you know, Not the right time to set a show; But old Miss Moon her plans had laid.

To put our sun half in the shade;

Alas she pulled her shade in a pout With earth's spectators all shut out;

For sun in one of his merry quips,

Drew his cloud curtains and hid the eclipse,

So that was the way one Sunday show turned out a failure.

How often in life we are impressed by the failure of words to express our deepest, most sincere feelings. How often have friends, well meaning friends, have spoken as did Job's Comforters when silence had been so far more comforting. When death has removed one of our loved ones, and a true sympathizing friend comes to sit in silence, how it comforts with comfort no words express.

O, the majesty of silence, Far greater than human speech; In the depths of its soothing quiet, Beyond our power to reach, Silence, brooding at midnight, Over fair pine forests deep; Silence, enfolding nature.

As a mother soothes to sleep, Silence that falls between us, When two sit dreaming alone; United in thought and purpose, As silence can only make known.

Silence that rests profoundly After a masterful speech; Silence that rests as an anthem, Its wordless music to teach.

Silence the heavens unfolding, As great constellations sweep, Our world old nightly courses, The Creators plan to keep, Silence surpassing in beauty, Our meager human speech;

Bearing life's greatest message When soul unto soul would reach, Silence, that awesome silence, That holds our beloved dead.

When they pass beyond our vision, Where God, light eternal doth spread.

Silence like benediction, Holds in its grasp the throng; By the echoes of a song, Silence, mystic silence,

Brooding beside the gate,

That holds from us all who enter,

Where to meet us loved ones wait,

Elinore Crisler Haynes.

Mr. Tegetmeier had been a hard working conscientious man, with a large acquaintance in his home town. He was employed for many years with the North Western railroad and was with Mason Meyer for several years.

Mr. Tegetmeier was born in Hanover, Germany, April 1, 1851, where he spent his boyhood. He came to America with his family in 1891. His wife, whom he married nearly 60 years ago, survives. Three children were born, one of whom, Henry, was killed five years ago. The others are Fred Tegetmeier, and Mrs. Theodore Detman. There also remain 11 grandchildren and 6 great grandchildren. There are a sister and a brother.

The Arlington showed to 3 nights of capacity attendance this week with "Flirtation Walk" sponsored by the Merle Guild Post American Legion. Record box office results are also anticipated with "Caravan" tonight and Friday, Saturday always attracts a large crowd with high class gifts and a silver jack pot as the added feature. This Saturday brings Geo. M. Cohan in "Gambling" and a double gift assortment. The punch bowl idea drew a large crowd last Saturday. Shirley Temple's "Bright Eyes" will be the magnet Sunday. The Arlington is climbing high in popularity with its marvelous sound and fine pictures. The Diane Quintuplets and "White Parade" are on next week.

MRS. DIETRICH WILL BE MISSEDMRS. J. J. DIETRICH

Word of the death of Mrs. J. J. Dietrich, which occurred at Pasadena hospital, Jan. 24, 1935, was received with great regret in Arlington Heights. The deceased had many friends here who greatly mourn her departure, among them Mrs. E. C. Haynes who herewith pays tribute to the memory of her friends and neighbor.

"There is no words in which to tell of the grief and shock that the word of Mrs. Dietrich's passing brought to her scores of old time intimate friends in Arlington Heights.

"Our own was a personal knowledge of the sincere and unbounded kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Dietrich in ten years of intimate experiences. Ten dark years of the fading from life of one dear to us. No, we cannot write of it, too sacred is the memory. A kinder, gentler soul, we never knew. In the town, in the church, club and social circles, no home so hospitable, no hearts so kind, and no one so unselfish in sharing of their not abundant means as Mr. and Mrs. Dietrich, ever one in all their activities and interests. Her going is a loss to all of us.

"We quote some of the tributes paid to Mrs. Dietrich in a farewell meeting for her given by the Woman's club in the home of Mrs. Howard Helm December of 1928. The following tribute was read. When they've been with us so many years, You've taken such a helpful place; Somehow we can't keep back our tears, And let you go with smiling face.

Through long evolving and the test, Of all the club was meant to be; With heart and hand you did your best,

And did it so cheerfully.

None ever felt an unkind thrust. Nor heard you voice a harmful word;

We differed, as friends sometimes must, When by misgivings they are stirred.

Yet, O dear friend, we're glad, as glad, That you may gain your hearts desire; We're thankful for the years we had.

And all your friendship helped inspire.

In sunset land, amid the flowers, May warmth and beauty drive out care; And friendships just as true as ours, Await, and welcome you out there.

O, yes dear friend we're glad for On that bright coast may you now find.

Good friends who ever may outdo, Your own great heart in being kind.

If shivery days or friends untrue, And all the days of glaring lights, Or flower masses weary you; Just come straight home to the old Heights.

"The many Heights friends join us in sincere sympathy for Mrs. Dietrich's family and near relatives who are in California. Her sister, Mrs. Jones, her niece, Isobel Royal, the nieces and nephews, many of whom have enjoyed her motherly care and guidance in her home. To these our heartfelt sympathy in their loss of such a priceless friend. It was to us a great comfort to know her life long friend who so well understood her every wish was with or near her in those last days.

To Mr. Dietrich words are too inadequate to convey all his friends here so sincerely feel for him in his unspeakable loss. We send to him the following lines that have soothed many a bereaved

Most glad, most tided through with joy for you and me, As we have suffered most.

God never made Spirit for spirit answering shade for shade, And placed them side by side, So wrought in one, though separate, mystified, And meant to break The quivering threads between when we shall wake, I am quite sure we will be very glad,

That for a little while we were so sad.

From the friends in Pasadena we have the names of old Heights friends who were able to attend Mrs. Dietrich's funeral among them were Joe Davis, Mary and Gretchen, the Helmkins, Hewitts, Voiz, the Heims, Allisons, Rose Lettuce White, a daughter of Ernest Kennicott, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Davis, and Prof. and Mrs. Schuster, formerly of Madison, Wis., and a most helpful friend of Mr. Dietrich in his time of need.

LEGION AUXILIARY NOTES

The regular meeting of the Auxiliary of Merle Guild Unit, met at the Legion house last Tuesday in an Americanism meeting. Mrs. Arthur McElhoe put on this program.

Mrs. Bernard Hoss, unit president had just returned from her trip to Washington. A style show was discussed and plans made for the affair which will be held in the Presbyterian church in April before Easter. The meeting was also guest night and quite a few prospective members were present.

Hostess were Mrs. Marie Griffith, Mrs. Edith Segebrecht, Mrs. Mac Jorgensen, Mrs. and Mrs. Berneke Forszen. Cake and coffee were served.

The Legion dance will be Feb. 23, in the Mohawk Country club. Everyone is busy helping the boys by selling tickets.

one. We so sincerely believe the boundary does not separate us from our beloved. He will give them back.

We are quite sure That He will give them back bright, pure, beautiful,

We know that He will keep Our own and His until we fall asleep.

We know He does not mean To break the strands, reaching between

The here and there; He does not mean though heaven be fair,

To change the spirits entering there, So they forget,

The eyes upraised and wet, The lips too still for prayer.

The mute despair, He will not take, The spirits which He gave, and make,

The glorified so new, That they are lost to me and you.

I do believe They will receive

Us, you and me and be so glad

To meet us, that when most I would grow sad,

I just begin to think about that gladness,

And the day, When they shall tell us all about the way

That they have learned to go,

Heavens pathways show

My lost, my own and I

Shall have so much to see together, by and by,

I do believe that just the same sweet face,

But glorified is waiting in the face.

Where we shall meet, if only I Am counted worthy in that by and by.

I do believe that God will give a sweet surprise,

To tear stained saddened eyes,

And that His heaven will be

Woman's Club Notes

The Woman's club met Wednesday, February 6th, the subject for the program "Chicago an Art Center."

President of the club, Mrs. Jarvis, and chairman of the Art committee.

Mrs. Volz gave the talks and papers on the program describing a tour of the galleries and art centers of the city.

They brought a number of prints or photogravures of the principle painting and pictures on exhibition, with intelligent descriptions by the speakers. As an interesting program on the art center of Chicago. This one given before the club should be highly commended, and appreciated.

A short time was given to round business.

One report of special note, was from the card party given January 29th showed most satisfactory financial returns for welfare work.

Friday the 8th several of the club members attended a district council at Park Ridge. They were pleased to hear several interesting speakers on topics of interest to the club women as well as to all humanity.

A choice luncheon was also an enjoyable feature of the affair.

Those attending this function were Mrs. Jarvis, club president; Mrs. Atkinson, Mrs. Briggs, Mrs. Jensen, Mrs. C. I. Davis, Mrs. Bolin, Mrs. O. G. Bolte, Mrs. Fessler, Mrs. Ashton and Mrs. O. G. Barrett, Mrs. Arthur Schmitz, Mrs. Glave.

The next meeting will be a Valentine party February 20th, to be held in the home of Miss Elizabeth Heller, corner of Dunton and Euclid streets.

Exhibits, Movies Scheduled for P. T. A. Meeting Tuesday

An exhibit of children's clothing of toys suitable for children of different ages, and a motion picture "One Day in a Nursery School" will be the feature of the Arlington Heights Parent-Teacher association meeting at 8:00 o'clock Tuesday night in the Arlington Heights high school.

The exhibits are being brought by Miss Carey Clark, home economics instructor in the school.

The Founders day meeting topic of the association is "Education for Worthy Home Membership." The motion picture was taken in the Merrill-Palmer nursery school in Detroit.

A short time was given to round business.

The girls' glee club of the north side grade school will sing at the meeting. It is directed by Miss Fern Lorenzen.

The children's clothing exhibit is from the bureau of home economics of the U. S. department of agriculture.

Freedom and comfort of the active child, encouragement to self-help, and the saving of his mother's time and energy are the objectives in the designs.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Spirit" was the subject of the Lesson Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 10.

The Golden Text was, "Where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty" (1 Cor. 3:17).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Now there are diversities of gifts, but the same Spirit. And there are diversities of operations, but all is the same God which worketh all in all. But the manifestation of the Spirit is given to every man to profit withal" (1 Cor. 12:4, 6, 7).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy:

"The rich in spirit help the poor in one grand brotherhood, all having the same Principle, or Father; and blessed is that man who seeth his brother's need and supplieth it, seeking his own in another's good" (p. 518).

VICTORY FROM LEYDEN HOLDS LEAD OF LOOP

Wild 4 minutes with Eagle ahead Climaxes Fourth Period, then Wichman Scores.

Barrington's Broncos practically clinched a conference title Friday night by defeating Leyden 28-26 in an overtime game. Two clear free throws by Wichman of Barrington tied the score 24-24 in the final second of the last quarter after a wild four minutes during which Leyden led.

In the overtime period Mollenkamp and Overhue each scored a basket for Barrington, and Chapp scored once for Leyden.

Tonight Barrington plays at Wauconda, next week the Bronco boys are hosts to Warren, and following that the conference season closes with Barrington playing at Palatine. A Bronco victory in that final game will give Barrington a clear championship, defeat will tie Barrington and Palatine for conference honors.

Barrington stepped off to an 8-4 lead in the first quarter. Friday, and shortly before the half time was leading 17-8 when Leyden's Eagles flashed through the Bronx defense to score six points in a minute and end the half with Barrington still leading 17-14.

Kruse continued his good playing started in the tournament and Mangels, promoted from the lightweights, is going to be a hard man to keep off the regular five. Reuse scored four baskets to lead the scorers and boosted his total for the season to 100. Hahnfeldt looked good when he entered the game in the last period. Zimmerman, as usual, was the mainstay of the Warren team and the top scorer for the visitors.

The Palatine lights had little trouble with Warren as they piled up a 13 to 2 lead in the first half. Reserves finished the game without trouble despite Warren's rally of 8 points on long shots in the last period.

PIRATES WIN FROM WARREN AT PALATINE

10 Points in Last Quarter win 27-13; Palatine Lights Victorious.

Palatine stayed in the conference title race by defeating Warren 27 to 13 in a hard fought battle which was not decided until the last period when the Pirates scored 10 points. The Palatine lights won the preliminary 22 to 14 with the freshmen playing half the game. Both contests were played at Palatine Friday night.

Palatine met a stubborn resistance in the heavyweight game as Zimmerman and company held the Pirates to 5 to 4 at the first quarter and 15 to 8 at the intermission. Palatine had 19 shots with out a basket in the third period which ended 17 to 12, but Hahnfeldt, Mangels, Reuse, and Engelking scored a total of 10 points while Warren was making a lone free throw in the final quarter.

Kruse continued his good playing started in the tournament and Mangels, promoted from the lightweights, is going to be a hard man to keep off the regular five. AMERICAN LEGION PRINCIPLES

Quite a number of people have the idea that the sole purpose of the American Legion is "horseplay." This impression was gained by the newspaper publicity given to the "horseplay" of Legionnaires at their state and national conventions.

It is true that one of the aims of the Legion is to have good times at meetings and conventions. In order to get members when the Legion first organized it was necessary to stress the social side; because after all it was rather a hard job to sell the Legion idea as most ex-service men wanted to forget the war as soon as possible. Membership grew slowly at first and most of that growth could be attributed to the publicity given the horseplay of Legionnaires at conventions—for after all what is a man—but an overgrown boy—and normal boys are interested most in having a good time.

Don't think for a moment that the bigger things in life were overlooked by the organizers of the American Legion. Evidence of this is in the Preamble to Constitution. "For God and country, we associate ourselves together for the following purposes: To uphold and defend the constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate a one hundred per cent Americanism; to preserve the memories and incidents of our association in the great war; to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation; to combat the autocracy of both the classes and masses; to make right the master of might; to promote peace and good will on earth; to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of Justice, Freedom and Democracy; to consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness."

As membership grew and the Legion became stronger the real aims of the Legion began to assert themselves. Such institutions as the School at Normal, Illinois, for orphans of the ex-service men; hospitals for invalid ex-service men, such as at Elgin, Cathey Farm, at Palos Park, for convalescent shell-shocked and wounded buddies, and many other similar institutions situated throughout the country are in existence because of the efforts of the Legion.

The Legion has espoused such American ideas as Universal Draft and legislation to the effect that aliens be able to read English as well as speak it; this a pre-requisite to naturalization. And then there is the idea which has been so forcefully impressed upon the Legion by our National Commanders, Frank Belgrano, namely "there is but one ism" and that is Americanism.

These definitely show the aims of the Legion— promulgation of American ideas, ideals and institutions and in the convention at Miami last fall the following Legion policy was adopted.

American Legion Policy—10C

BEAUTIFYING SCHOOLS

SCHOOL ought to be a lovely place. Children thrive best in beautiful surroundings. That does not mean elegant surroundings. Things can be beautiful without being elegant, or expensive, or loud. Beauty is always best when dressed in simplicity.

A school building ought to be long and low, spread out on the grass like a brooding hen. Vines should dress the walls and old trees shade its grounds. Flowering shrubs should snuggle in the corners where children's feet do not reach them, and tucked in about their roots the spring bulbs should flourish.

The inside of the building is where children live. That means that it should be as beautiful as it can be made without becoming obviously decorated.

I think there ought to be one good picture in every room. I like that picture to be the one that appeals strongest to the children who use that room. Pictures ought to inspire the children, so they must be those that the children can read. They can only read a picture that calls upon their experience and their dreams.

I would not have a lot of children's work pinned about a room. It gathers dust.

Schoolrooms are not a good place for plants and animals, birds and fishes. If we can make them beautiful for the children we are doing well.

First, let us make them clean. The walls, the floor, the ceiling and the woodwork, all ought to be clean as brush and cleansing water can make them. The furniture should be smooth. Its fair surface unmarrred. The chairs and benches ought to be comfortable. It costs no more to supply a comfortable bench than to buy one that makes a child bunch and huddle and squirm to find a comfortable angle in it.

There must be plenty of light and air. A dark room with poor ventilation is never beautiful. The closets and wardrobes should be sufficient and they should be convenient.

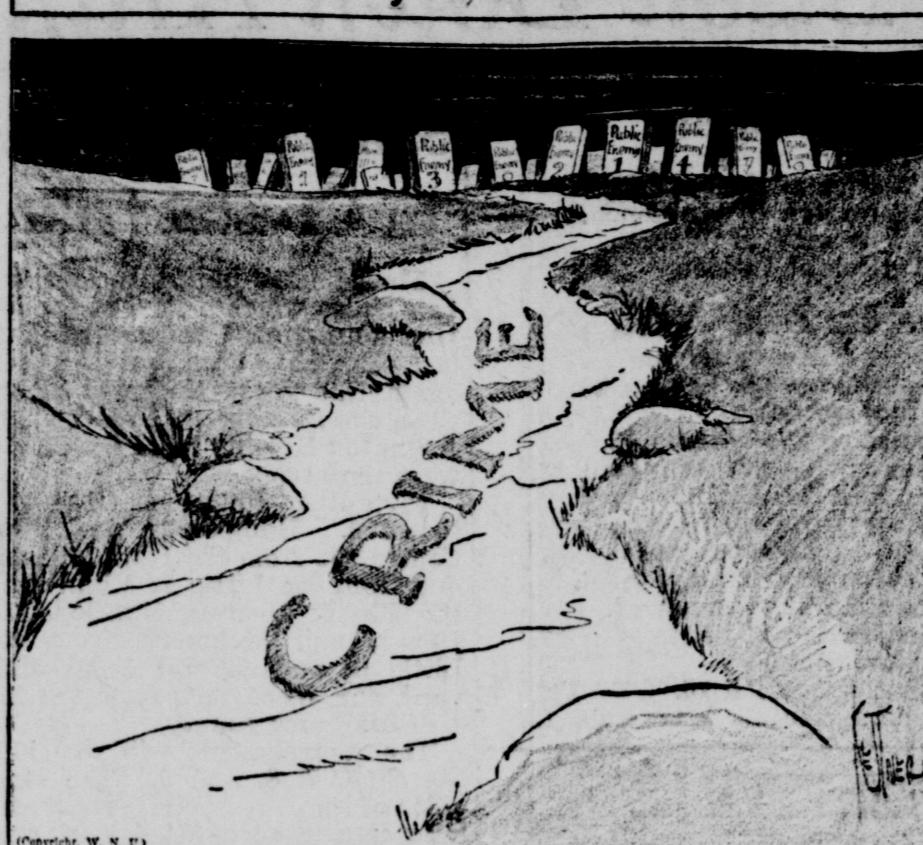

We advocate a law of universal draft: It will take the profit out of war and thereby aid in preventing war. In the event of war it will equalize the economic and physical burden upon all the people, and it will make our national effort unified and effective. Post war inflation with its ruinous results will be obviated.

The National Rehabilitation committee, after 15 years of effort to aid human stabilization in the aftermath of war, deeply and sincerely advocates the adoption by the Congress of a fair and equitable plan for the utilization of all resources in national conflict: with equal obligation for all and with special profit and privilege for none."

The Legion has for 1935 a definite 4 point program. In successive articles in the Herald, individual members of the post will take up these four points in detail.

We believe the legislative program is important and the points covered vital to the community and nation. Citizens in this community are invited to read and comment on them through the columns of this paper. This is a courtesy granted us by the Paddock publications which have at all times supported the Legion 100 per cent.

The End of the Crooked Trail

STUDYING THE BRAIN

A student with electrodes connected from his head to the apparatus—showing how Dr. Herbert H. Jasper and Dr. Leonard Carmichael, of Brown University department of psychology, take "action currents" from the brain. The new apparatus is capable of photographing amplified "action currents" given off by the human brain.

When hooks are higher than children's heads they cannot hang their things on them and they use the floor instead. Whatever care for cleanliness, order, convenience, and comfort will make the classroom and the school a beautiful place to live. This is a good time to check up on paint and washing powders, furniture and equipment. Where the children live ought to be a place of beauty.

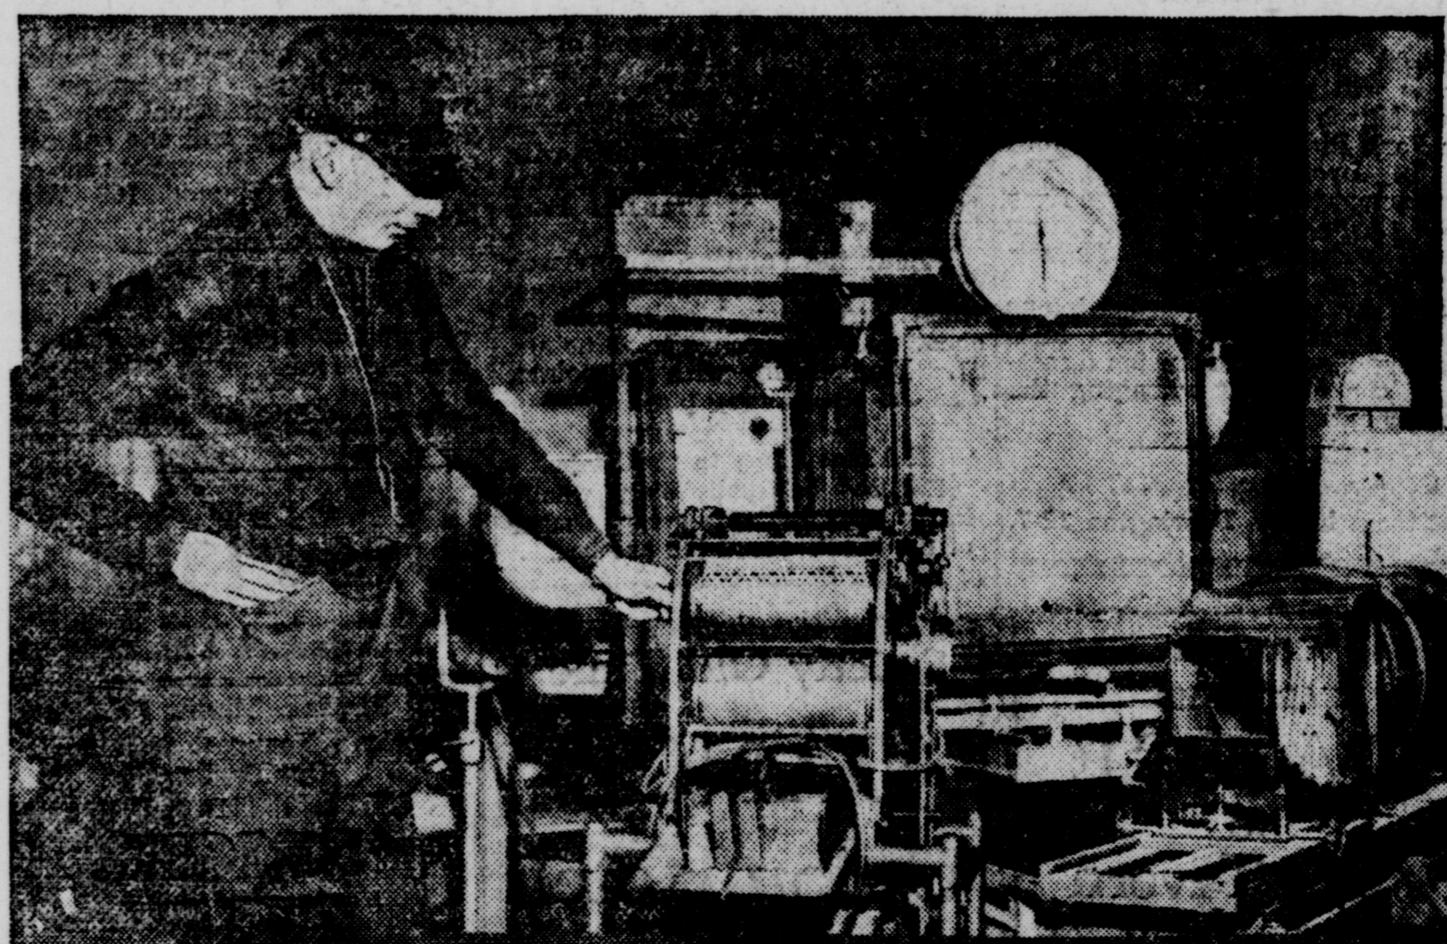

Seeds do not require light nor heat to germinate, but after the plant is up, it must have light or it will grow spindly. Therefore, after the seeds are up, move to a sunny window, being careful not to over-water, as excess moisture will cause a fungus disease known as "damping off" which sometimes takes a whole flat of plants in a few hours. Better grow rather dry, watering only when it is needed.

After watering, set the flats away in a dark place until the seed germinates. The best way to water these boxes is to set them in a tub with enough water to bring the level of the water slightly below the level of soil in the flats, then let them set until the water has soaked up through to the top of the soil. If the flats are kept covered with burlap, it will help to prevent the soil from drying out.

It must be remembered that drying is fatal to small seeds after they have swelled. Probably more failures are due to seeds drying out after they have swelled, than from any other cause.

Asters, verbenas, pansies, petunias, ageratum, annual phlox, and many others can be started this way, and will repay one for the trouble many times over in early healthy plants. Vegetable seeds such as tomato, egg-plant, cabbage, and cauliflower, can also be started a little later in this same way, and will give you fine plants at very little expense.

Congressman Busy

RALPH E. CHURCH, Congressman from the tenth district of Illinois, has been given a third committee assignment, that to the committee on revision of laws. Previous assignments placed him on the committee on patents and the committee on naval affairs.

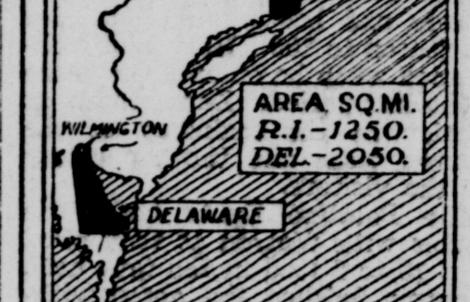

Abraham Lincoln, presidential nominee in 1860 was born in the log cabin above while his running mate, Hannibal Hamlin, claimed the mansion at right as his birthplace, which caused many Easterners to dub the Republican slate the "Upside Down Ticket," according to Louis A. Warren, student of Lincoln lore for the Lincoln National Life foundation.

"Although Lincoln and Hamlin were the same age, a comparison of their political achievements up to 1860 shows to the great disadvantage of Lincoln," says Dr. Warren. Hamlin had served two terms in the congress, 12 years in the senate, and been governor of Maine. Lincoln had one term in Congress.

Do You Know

That the city of Wilmington, Del., contains nearly half the population of that state. The population of Wilmington in 1920 was 110,168, while that of the state was 223,003. Delaware is next to the smallest state, in area, in the Union.

sturdy frame, or a new screen frame and cover it herself. Paint the frame or polish it again. Cut ordinary muslin or cotton cloth to fit each side of each panel, and glue it firmly in place. Over this, handsome wall paper can be glued and a gimp edge be put about each panel. Or a textile can be tacked on with round brass-headed tacks which, in themselves, form a finish if they are close. Burlap may be used thus as the textile, but it is not ornamental. The choicest textile is, perhaps, a patterned brocade, in self-tone or artistic blends of colors. In between these extremes there are many good and suitable materials.

Successful Two-Room Effect.

I know of one woman, whose one room is longer than it is wide, who feels the individuality of each part of the room through having a high four-fold Japanese screen for a partition wall. One window comes in each of these division sections. A davenport bed, and a Martha Washington table with drawers in it, and a mirror above against a handsome hanging, supply a sitting room and an unrecognizable bedroom in one part of the room. In the other is her hidden workroom entirely different in character, yet not out of keeping with the other part, so that, on occasions, she folds the screen and puts it in the corner of the room or in her closet (off the workroom portion) and makes one large room of two parts. The success of this screen partitioning is excellent.

REDDY FOX QUARRELS FOOLISHLY

AS REDDY FOX sat glaring up at Terror the Goshawk, whose arrival from the Far North had spoiled Reddy's hunting in the Green Forest, he grew angrier and angrier. He grew so angry that presently he walked over until he was almost under Terror the Goshawk. "What right have you down here in the Green Forest?" he snarled.

"The same right you have, Reddy Fox," retorted Terror.

"It's no such thing," snapped Reddy. "You haven't the same right here I have. You belong up in the are you going to do about it?" That question was too much for Reddy Fox. If Terror had been a four-legged person like himself there might have been ways to make things more uncomfortable for him. As it was, there wasn't a single thing Reddy could do, and he knew it.

"You're a great, big bully and coward," snarled Reddy. You know it is an easy matter to call people you hate bad names.

Terror merely chuckled. It was a hateful chuckle and made Reddy angrier than ever. "So I'm coward, am I?" said Terror. "Think again, Reddy; think again. It is you who are a coward, not I. I fear nothing and no one. Just to settle the question I dare you to go up to Farmer Brown's and steal a chicken from his henhouse while he is about."

"That's a silly dare," snarled Reddy. "You are daring me to do something you don't dare do yourself. You know well enough you'll keep away from that henyard as long as Farmer Brown is about."

"Is that so?" snapped Terror, and the feathers on the top of his head began to rise in anger. "I never dare anybody to do what I do myself."

"Huh!" retorted Reddy Fox. "Talk is cheap." He said this with an unpleasant sneer.

Terror's fierce eyes blazed with rage. "I never boast," he declared. "I dare you to go to Farmer Brown's henyard right now and prove who is the coward."

Reddy Fox couldn't very well back out. He tried to think of an excuse, but for the life of him he couldn't. "All right," said he, "I'll take your dare."

Corn-Hog Meetings Start Tuesday

FIRST SESSION AT ARLINGTON VILLAGE HALL

Buttermilk Corners Meeting is Next Friday Afternoon

Information and sign-up corn-

ings meetings for the 1935 season are being held next week, with the first session at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the Arlington

Heights village hall. The second meeting for farmers in the northern part of the county will be held at 1:30 o'clock Friday afternoon at Buttermilk corners, Higgins and

Roselle roads.

Down-country farmers will have their first meeting at 1:30 o'clock

Wednesday afternoon in the hall

above the James Creer store in Or-

land Park, and their second meeting at the same hour Thursday afternoon in the Farm Bureau of-ice in Blue Island.

Farmers who produced 10 or more acres of corn or raised hogs

last year are eligible to sign

whether or not they signed last year, stated O. G. Barrett, Cook

county farm adviser in announcing the meetings.

He urged all

farmers to attend the meetings to learn the provisions of the plan regardless of whether or not they signed later.

The A.A.'s corn-hog contracts are somewhat changed from last year, said Mr. Barrett. In most cases the contract has been liberalized. The details will be discussed at these meetings.

FARMERS — ATTENTION

IT'S EARLY IN THE SEASON, yet many of our old customers and many new ones, are coming in to see us about loans to enable them to make a better start for this year. Already we have loaned money to farmers this year,

To buy horses
To buy feed
To buy seed oats
To pay household and farm running expenses until income starts
To hold onion sets for better price
To buy cows

Tomorrow is Deadline For Ordering Seed Oats From Local Farm Bureau

Farmers wishing to procure seed oats from the government must file their orders at the Cook county farm bureau office not later than tomorrow, states O. G. Barrett, county farm adviser. Oats for shipment into counties affected by the drought last year are being purchased by the government for sale at 75 cents per bushel plus 1 cent per bushel per month additional after February 1.

The amount required for Cook county must be known tomorrow. The seeds are being procured by C. H. Humphrey, director of the Agricultural Drought Service of Illinois, cooperating with the federal department of agriculture.

Cow 'Models' Change, Efficiency Favored For Herds of 1935

Cow "models" have changed, too, with the coming of the new year, according to J. G. Cash, assistant at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

Grain prices are now so high in relation to the prices of dairy products that hundreds of cows are being "scrapped" every month because they are unable to show a profit on the more expensive feed, he reported. In one recent month dairymen who are members of dairy herd improvement associations sponsored by the agricultural college culled out 432 cows because they were unprofitable producers under existing feed prices.

A year ago, when grain prices were more favorable, many such cows were able to stay on the profit side of the line, but only the more efficient "model" of cows kept up the pace now, Cash pointed out.

On December 17th, 1934, the entire Nation paid tribute to Orville Wright and Wilbur Wright, co-inventors of a motor driven, man carrying air-craft successfully flown by Orville Wright for the first time just thirty-one years ago.

As a signal honor to these two men, all available Army, Navy, Marine and Coast Guard planes were flown over their home airports or nearby cities; almost 7,000 commercial planes from about 1400 airports answered the call of the Aeronautics Division of the Department of Commerce by taking to the air in this "flight of remembrance."

In order to better understand the significance of this mass flight, let us go back to the year 1903, to a small barren hill at Kitty Hawk, North Carolina. Here we learn that these two brothers have been flying successfully in man carrying gliders, at this same place, at

SCOUT DRIVE FOR FUNDS TO END NEXT WEEK

Money to be Used for Local Needs and N. W. Council

The Boy Scout drive to raise funds for the continuation of this work in the village is reported to be progressing very satisfactorily. All the teams are actively at work under their captains, who report almost one hundred per cent response on the part of those visited.

The drive began last Friday night and it is the hope of the teams and their captains to visit every house in the Village before the end of the drive Thursday night, the 14th. If any one has not been visited, he may do his part by getting in touch with the captain in charge of his section, or the Village.

The organization and committees in charge of the drive are G. S. Crawford, chairman of the Boy Scout troop committee; Stephen W. Harrington, finance officer of the Boy Scouts; and V. F. Weber, chairman of the Cub Pack committee. The captains in charge of the various sections of the Village are Louis Hollenback, East Side; F. O. Jostad, Manor; W. W. Lahtiinen, Pick Subdivision; O. W. Holmlund, south side; and W. W. Weiss, business side.

Because of the difficulty in finding people at home in the evenings, the time when most of those working on the campaign can make their calls, the campaign will be continued through the week-end. The report to the REVIEW is that only about one-third of the Village has been covered to Wednesday.

The final check-up of all engaged in the campaign, will be on Monday night at 7:30 in the public school just before the Legion meeting. All those who have taken part are urged to make their final check up at that time.

CONVENTION OF WALTHER LEAGUE HELD

Sessions Held Saturday, Sunday in Chicago, Paul Vetter Presides

The eleventh annual convention of the Northern Illinois District of the International Walther League, young people's organization of the Lutheran church, was held in Chicago last week-end. Two business sessions, one Saturday afternoon and another Sunday, were held with Paul Vetter, president of the league, presiding.

The business of the convention consisted of reports of progress on the program of the League during the past year and resolutions for the continuance and expansion for the coming year, especially in the fuller participation in the reorganized and enlarged program.

The Sunday session was opened with a service at which the newly sponsored choral union made its first public appearance under the baton of Prof. Walter Sassemannshausen. The program featured particularly the works of Johann Sebastian Bach. At this service a sermon was preached by the Rev. Rupprecht on the convention motto "Jesus Only."

The election of officers resulted in the choice of: Edwin Kuecker being chosen president; Walter Oehler, vice president; Miss Edna Weideman, recording secretary; Miss Lucile Wismer, corresponding secretary; Fred Thieme, treasurer; the Rev. C. F. Dankworth, spiritual adviser; and Miss Meta Vetter, Paul Vetter and Wm. Zeiter, members of the executive board.

This was the largest group assembled at a convention in this district with more than 1100 paid registrations and many guests attended who were not registered.

Saturday evening the fellowship dinner was held in the brilliantly chandeliered grand ballroom where a turkey dinner was served. The speaker of the evening was the Rev. E. Frenk, Ph.D., who spoke "My Brother's Keeper." Dr. Frenk presented his topic in an interesting and instructive manner. A diversified program made this banquet memorable and included vocal solos by Waldemar Schroeder, winner of the Tribune music land festival, Miss Ruth Schmid, Kurt Zimmermann, also the vocal ensemble of the Roosevelt high school under the able direction of E. Bergstrasser. An interesting feature was a drum performance by B. Smith, national champion high school drummer in 1934. G. Goebel, NBC and WLS radio tenor sang cowboy songs. A reading by Miss Lyla Handke, was applauded. Community singing was under the leadership of Albert Miller. Otto Koehneke, of Arlington Heights was toastmaster.

Sunday evening a musical variety program was presented by the Valparaiso University vesed choir, on this program there was featured Mrs. Schweppe, soprano, Helen Dvorak, violin, F. Schweppe, baritone under the direction of Schweppe.

The convention committee was headed by Wm. Zeiter, chairman, man.

This convention more than others, promoted the inspiration, plans and guidance needed to carry out the comprehensive program which is the objective of the Walther League and which in a large measure is instrumental in training and educating our group of young Lutherans to become the leaders in their church in the future as well as building into the group sound ideals of citizenship and humanity.

20 Apply For Postmastership At Arlington

A total of twenty applications are reported to have been made for the postmastership at Arlington Heights. Tuesday was the last day for filing applications. The applications will be considered under a presidential order and not under civil service rules or regulations.

There will be no examination. Applicants will be rated on their individual education, training, business experience and fitness.

The applicants for the Arlington Heights office include those with special postal training as well as those who are depending upon their political affiliations to strengthen their position.

Regardless of who is appointed, there will be no change or vacancies in the clerks or carriers as they are all under civil service.

Ben Helfers, the present postmaster, entered postal work as an employee under Wm. F. Meyer and upon the retirement of the latter was appointed to the position in 1926.

PUFFER'S ELECTION WAS LEGAL

Judge Kelly Indicates He Will Uphold Election of New County Supt.

While there has been little doubt in the minds of the majority of the peoples relative to the legality of the election of Noble J. Puffer, of Palatine, as county superintendent of schools, even the small possibility that he might never be seated was removed last Thursday when Superior Judge James J. Kelly indicated that he would deny the mandamus proceedings that had been instituted by the present incumbent, Otto F. Aken, who has held that Mr. Puffer was not properly qualified for the office.

The judge gave the petitioner until Feb. 18, to amend his petition or to quote any authority the petitioners may have supporting their action. Otherwise, the case will be dismissed.

Among other things the petition asked that the county board be restrained from interfering with the office tenure of Mr. Aken; that his salary be continued and that Mr. Puffer be not qualified. The judge pointed out that no attempt had been made by the county board to oust Mr. Aken, his pay had not been interfered with and that Mr. Puffer held a proper election certificate offered by state authority.

The judge added that in his opinion Mr. Puffer could take office any time he desired.

Even prior to the recent election rumors were circulated that Mr. Puffer would never be allowed to take office. Any charges that were made at that time were not taken seriously by those acquainted with the full details and the present indications are that Mr. Puffer will not be further embarrassed by either rumors or court action.

Laymen League Play Is Presented Next Week

The Lutheran Laymen League is sponsoring a play called "Dust of the Earth," to be presented next Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 20 and 21. This tenderly human drama has back of it a long record of success. It's one of the outstanding plays for amateur production. Many pathetic and thrilling scenes are encountered before the drama moves swiftly to a close. Plenty of comedy enriches the play. This is provided by the light-hearted Jerry and Miss Arabella, the village gossip, who is Wandering Tom and who is little Nell.

Art, Julius, Gus and Other Village "Boys" Enjoy Cocktails a Dinner and a Show Monday

Art Consoer, Arlington Heights village engineer was host Monday evening to "the boys," numbering fourteen, all members of the Arlington Heights official family in some capacity. The cocktails, were partaken at the Consoer office; the dinner at eight in Room 320 of the Harding Restaurant and the show at the Palace.

Mr. Consoer's official relationship with the village of Arlington Heights had nothing to do with the event. Art made it distinctly understood that the invitation came as a matter of personal friendship that has developed in recent years between him and the people in Arlington Heights. He told the boys that evening that a trip to an Arlington Heights board meeting gave him more pleasure than an evening at bridge with the ladies.

Note—The editor does not know what stories these boys told their wives in order to get off for that evening but is taking a chance that the wives know all about that evening.

SCOUT HEADS PROMOTE NEW FINANCE PLAN

Scouting Club Membership Supports Work of Council

Meeting under the leadership of new chairmen, the Northwest Suburban Boy Scout council finance committee formulated definite plans for raising sufficient funds to adequately finance the scout program in the Northwest Suburban area. For the past several years although consistent growth in membership had been reported, the general administration and the development of Scouting, Cubbing and Seascouting has been seriously handicapped through the lack of sufficient funds.

As the work of practically every other council committee hinged either directly or indirectly upon adequate finances, the present officials plan to do everything possible to remove this obstacle. The vehicle through which parents of scouts, members of institutions sponsoring troops, scouts, friends of scouting, business men and other citizens will be asked to support scouting is through the Scout council.

Membership will be on the same basis as previous years varying from $2.50 up. Emphasis is to be given to the need for individuals supporting one or more boys in Scouting at the approximate cost of $5 per year. In many instances the parents are doing this, but there are hundreds of boys in the area enjoying the constructive influence of Scouting or Cubbing program who come from homes where all available funds are needed for other things and no boys should be deprived of the Scout program because of that fact.

One of the lowest economic budgets in the history of the council has been adopted for 1935. It is only two-thirds of the operating cost of a few years ago in spite of the fact that the council is at the present time serving twice as many boys. Each troop, district and community in the council area is beginning at once to raise its portion of the operating expense. In many instances quotas have already been assigned and approved. In others it is expected the quota will be approved shortly.

Each group is to have its January and February allotment paid prior to the council meeting to be held February 25. The finance committee working with Chairman Stewart consists of Vern Larechelle of Barrington; George Münchberger of Palatine; Stephen Harrington of Mt. Prospect; W. A. Miles of Arlington Heights, and George Wells of Park Ridge.

Puffer is Chairman At Educator's Meeting In Chicago Last Week

Noble J. Puffer, county superintendent of schools elect, served as chairman of the rural section of the regional conference of the Progressive Education Association which held its annual meeting in Chicago Saturday. More than one thousand leading superintendents, principals, and teachers attended the final session.

The theme of the conference was "the school is maintained for the child, not the child for the school." Speakers at the meeting said that education must provide the greatest opportunity for full and complete individual development of the child. Mass production in education is unpardonable. School attendance must be a pleasant experience for the child, where sympathetic treatment of his individual problems is given.

Carleton Washburne of Winnetka acted as chairman of the afternoon session where nationally-known figures addressed the group, discussing methods of making schools truly progressive.

Art proved himself a royal host. He gave no speeches, nor asked for any. The steak dinner was all that Hardings' steak dinners can be and nothing was too good for his guests. What mattered if Gus thought the appetizer was merely tomato juice and burned his tonsils, or if Daddy Klehm and Fredie got lost on La Salle street, they were found a half hour later.

These boys do not get out to a show very often and the vaudeville and picture topped off an evening that was as near "night life" as these boys will probably ever get.

Note—The editor does not know what stories these boys told their wives in order to get off for that evening but is taking a chance that the wives know all about that evening.

Art Consoer, Arlington Heights village engineer was host Monday evening to "the boys," numbering fourteen, all members of the Arlington Heights official family in some capacity. The cocktails, were partaken at the Consoer office; the dinner at eight in Room 320 of the Harding Restaurant and the show at the Palace.

Mr. Consoer's official relationship with the village of Arlington Heights had nothing to do with the event. Art made it distinctly understood that the invitation came as a matter of personal friendship that has developed in recent years between him and the people in Arlington Heights. He told the boys that evening that a trip to an Arlington Heights board meeting gave him more pleasure than an evening at bridge with the ladies.

Observers Notes

February, month that brings To us worthier souls than kings, Lincoln brave, and Washington, Valiant men still leading on; Susan Anthony who broke Woman's chain with Spartans stroke; Chains that bound them from their right, She broke with her tremendous might; Why should we now whine and wail? Right and justice must prevail; February leads in spring, Soon the bird of he will sing; And the Robins cheerio, Will bring courage as we go.

A noble triumvirate February brings to us, Lincoln the 12th; Susan Anthony the 15th, and George Washington the 22nd. And don't forget your good Saint Valentine February 14th.

Why be afraid or dread winter when we are in February and spring is just in the offing? Some of us oldsters remember Februaries when farmers sowed their oats and March brought violets and buttercups.

Wonder how it would affect us if we were to go a whole week without telephone or radio? Sometimes we get vexed at the radio rehearsals of crime and disagreeable things going on in the world today, and we feel like shutting it off, yet when recall all it brings us of enlightening and helpful things we do not want to lose its voice.

The discussions in the Senate on entrance into the World Court was well worth hearing. Why even Huey Long has given us more humor than all the others put together. Then we, within the past three years, have taken a regular college course in lectures over radio, have heard the most helpful sermons and the grandest music. How could one without a car shut in this icy weather, do without the radio?

Speaking of good deeds, it was a kindly good deed when Harriet Fricke told us how to see the eclipse of the sun without straining our eyes looking through smoked glass. This easier way was to set a vessel of water, pan, pail or tub, out in an open space and there you could see a plain reflection of the eclipse.

Another good deed, now right off the bat ("American") is always kind street commissioner saw one of our women friends struggling along over the icy pavement who felt she couldn't afford to risk a fall. It was then this kind village official took Mrs. Draper over the long way to her home. Ask her if she doesn't call that his one good deed.

Here this very day comes the word of a woman in a Chicago home for retired people, Mrs. Schoonover, who is today one hundred and one years old, when asked how she attained such remarkable age, replied, "By minding my own business." Ouch, think of such a kind deed, as that extended through 101 years. Think of it, you who are annoyed by persons who don't mind their own business and you will realize this long extended good deed of Mrs. Schoonover.

Yesterday afternoon listening in vain to hear the "merry sleigh go by" up to our "garden gate" drove Mrs. George Peterson bringing our cheerful friend, Mrs. D. G. Beatty. I'm sure we note "check and double check" (as Andy says) to Mrs. Peterson's good deed, and to both friends' long credit marks for a good deed. That left a trail of sunshine behind it for us.

Coming along the street one day last week met a friend, a business man, has credit on our list for more than one good deed, and beaming from his face we knew he had a good deed to place him square for the day. Here it is, the North Side State bank is reported to pay soon, a five per cent "dividend" to depositors. It is a pleasing rumor and can do no harm even if like Volivas report that the

Susan B. Anthony, whose birthday is February 15, was one of those noble women who endured abuse and blame for the valiant fight she made for women's right to vote and be a citizen with her God-given rights. Susan Anthony's great good deed goes ringing down the ages, and is now evidenced in the number of capable women in positions of trust and honor. Why don't women honor her birthday?

Here is one woman (a Hoosier, too), whose good deed through her restored right is the only woman in the Indiana legislature won the passage of her bill today that would put down itching palms in the guise of aching hearts. Her bill passed unanimously and with the following clincher, put in by an Indianapolis clergyman, a member of the assembly to insure that it cannot be brought up again. This is the good deed of Mrs. Roberta West Nickolson.

The Ground Hog whose Missus told him with authority after women got their suffrage that after this "heres her language" from now on I'll attend to this shadow business. So we are not one bit scared here at noon ground hog day, that no shadow has been visible of ground hog or hogs of any other sort.

Whose scared at a shadow anyway? Did you ever wilt down in the harness at the beginning of a new day, just shrink altogether and feel you could not go through the day? After the sun came up and you traveled farther through the day, you felt new courage to go on until the sunset came, you were stronger than at dawn.

When the morning light began, Then I said "I never can Go all day."

Yet as farther on I strode, Light and lighter grew my load On the way.

Hindrances that loomed so vast, Gave way as along I passed And it's found.

Every step some good unfold, That my guide book left untold, Spread around.

All of morning's fear and dread, Of the day had somehow fled, And a song.

In my heart began to sing, As the days for journeying Led along.

As I went days farther length, Much I marveled at the strength That was mine.

When the eventime came on Looking back to unto its dawn, To its far decline,

I thanked God that all the way, As I journey day by day I have found Strength for every given task, This alone is all I ask, While I stay.

Dear me! So many men of many minds all bent on the best good to make to this old world better. Father Coughlin with his broad, earnest zeal to form a league or army, the pledge to stand for the preservation of our nation as a land of liberty, justice and truth.

Comes another, Dr. Bradley, advocating life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness under the Constitution of the U. S. A. Both men emphasize the conditions and privilege of joining their league or army, the pledge to stand for our country, no matter what their creed or lack of creed, belief or unbelief. Father Coughlin's army and Dr. Bradley's crusaders are both working in a grand cause.

However, when I read their high and noble purposes and their earnest efforts in the cause of right for our country, I wish they made one qualification for entrance into their band for the preservation of our country—that qualification should be belief in God and the brotherhood of man.

How about beginning to see things right in our own town. Some one asked me today who should a person go to get, or apply for relief. If it is for physical ills our village has a noble corps of doctors, dentists and chiropodists. If it is for spiritual relief our several churches have ministers, pastors and priests who could be referred to.

If it is for financial relief, the less we say about that, the better. Having learned banks have in the past afforded a means of relief to those overburdened with financial assets, all in all am ignorant on the relief question. Wolcott recommends Konjila, another mustard oil or wizard oil. It's just too bad I couldn't tell you the party you seek.

Sunday morning the time for Sunday school and church services didn't seem a suitable time for those heavenly bodies, sun and moon, to put on a show. No wonder that in spite of all our smoked glasses and vessels of water to reflect the show, it proved a failure.

Twas the hour for church services you know, Not the right time to set a show; But old Miss Moon her plans had laid.

To put our sun half in the shade; Alas she pulled her shade in a pout With earth's spectators all shut out;

For sun in one of his merry quips, Drew his cloud curtains and hid the eclipse,

So that was the way one Sunday show turned out a failure.

How often in life we are impressed by the failure of words to express our deepest, most sincere feelings. How often have friends, well meaning friends, have spoken as did Job's Comforters when silence had been so far more comforting. When death has removed one of our loved ones, and a true sympathizing friend comes to sit in silence, how it comforts with comfort no words express.

O, the majesty of silence, Far greater than human speech; In the depths of its soothing quiet, Beyond our power to reach.

Silence, brooding at midnight, Over far pine forests deep; Silence, enfolding nature.

As a mother soothes to sleep, Silence that falls between us, Until two sit dreaming alone; United in thought and purpose,

As silence can only make known.

Silence that rests as an anthem, Its wordless music to teach.

Silence the heavens unfolding, As great constellations sweep,

The Creators plan to keep.

Silence surpassing in beauty, Our meager human speech;

Bearing life's greatest message, When soul unto soul would reach.

Silence, that awesome silence, That holds all beloved dead,

When they pass beyond our vision,

Where God, light eternal doth spread.

Silence like benediction,

Holds in its grasp the throng;

Swept by its folds mysterious,

By the echoes of a song.

Silence, mystic silence,

Brooding beside the gate,

That holds from us all who enter,

Where to meet us loved ones wait.

Elinore Crisler Haynes.

MRS. DIETRICH WILL BE MISSEDMRS. J. J. DIETRICH

Mrs. Olive Louise Dietrich, a 15-year-old Whitfield road, Pasadena, Calif., passed away January 23, 1935, at a local hospital. She was a native of Illinois, and a resident of Pasadena for eleven years. She is survived by her husband, J. J. Dietrich; a sister, Fanny Ailene Jones, Dallas, Texas; and a brother, Arthur Ladrow Royal, Baxter Springs, Kansas. Funeral services held Saturday at 1:30 p. m. at Memory Chapel of Ives & Warren company, 100 North Hills Avenue. Dr. Merle M. Smith officiated; interment was in Pomona cemetery. Two of Mrs. Dietrich's sisters, Mrs. Combs and Mrs. Whitmore were buried in that place.

Olive Louise Royal was born in Wilton Center, Will county, Illinois. During her early years she lived in Chester, Iowa and Allen's Grove, Wisconsin.

Our own was a personal knowledge of the sincere and unbound kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Dietrich in ten years of intimate experiences. Ten dark years of the fading from life of one dear to us. No, we cannot write of it, too sacred is the memory. A kinder, gentler soul, we never knew. In the town, in the church, club and social circles, no home so hospitable, no hearts so kind, and no one so unselfish in sharing of their not abundant means as Mr. and Mrs. Dietrich, ever one of all their activities and interests. Her going is a loss to all of us.

We quote some of the tributes paid to Mrs. Dietrich in a farewell meeting for her given by the Woman's club in the home of Mrs. Howard Helm December of 1928. The following tribute was read.

When you've been with us so many years,

You've taken such a helpful place;

Somehow we can't keep back our tears,

And let you go with smiling face,

Through long evolving and the test,

Of all the club was meant to be;

With heart and hand you did your best,

And did it O so cheerfully.

None ever felt an unkind thrust,

Nor heard you voice a harmful word;

We differed, as friends sometimes must,

When by misgivings they are stirred.

Yet, O dear friend, we're glad, as glad,

That you may gain your hearts desire;

We're thankful for the years we had,

And all your friendship helped inspire.

In sunset land, amid the flowers, May warmth and beauty drive out care;

And friendships just as true as ours,

Await, and welcome you out there.

O, yes dear friend we're glad for On that bright coat may you now find.

Good friends who ever may outdo, Your own great heart in being kind.

If shivery days or friends untrue, And all the days of glaring lights, Or flower masses weary you; Just come straight home to the old Heights.

The many Heights friends join us in sincere sympathy for Mrs. Dietrich's family and near relatives who are in California. Her sister, Mrs. Jones, her niece, Isabelle Royal, the nieces and nephews, many of whom have enjoyed her motherly care and guidance in her home. To these our heartfelt sympathies in their loss of such a priceless friend. It was to us a great comfort to know her life long friend who so well understood her every wish was with or near her in those last days.

To Mr. Dietrich words are too inadequate to convey all he's friends here so sincerely feel for him in his unspeakable loss. We send to him the following lines that have solaced many a bereaved

Most glad, most tided through with joy for you and me, As we have suffered most.

God never made Spirit for spirit answering shade for shade, And placed them side by side, So wrought in one, though separate, mystified, And meant to break The quivering threads between when we shall wake, I am quite sure we will be very glad,

That for a little while we were so sad.

From the friends in Pasadena we have the names of old Heights friends who were able to attend Mrs. Dietrich's funeral among them were Joe Davis, Mary and Gretchen, the Helmskins, Hewitts, Volz, the Helms, Allisons, Rose Leutte White, a daughter of Ernest Kennicott, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Davis, and Prof. and Mrs. Schaefer, formerly of Madison, Wis., and most helpful friend of Mr. Dietrich in his time of need.

LEGION AUXILIARY NOTES

The regular meeting of the Auxiliary of Merle Guild Unit, met at the Legion house last Tuesday in an Americanism meeting. Mrs. Arthur McElhoe put on this program.

Mrs. Bernard Hoss, unit president had just returned from her trip to Washington. A style show was discussed and plans made for the affair which will be held in the Presbyterian church in April before Easter. The meeting was also guest night and quite a few prospective members were present.

Hostess were Mrs. Marie Griffith, Mrs. Edith Segebrecht, Mrs. Mae Jorgenson, and Mrs. Berneice Forzen. Cake and coffee were served.

The Legion dance will be Feb. 23, in the Mohawk Country club. Everyone is busy helping the boys by selling tickets.

MAC

LEYDEN HOLDS
LEAD OF LOOP

Wild 4 minutes with Eagle-head Climaxes Fourth Period, then Wichman Scores.

Broncos Out Ahead

The most conservative critics would concede Barrington at least a share of the conference title at this stage of the race. Three games remain on the Bronchos' schedule and they should have little difficulty disposing of Wauconda in tonight's battle and of turning back Warren the following week on the Barrington court. If they emerge from this pair unscathed they will go into the final tilt at Palatine a full game ahead of the Pirates with a tie for the title if they lose and an undisputed championship if they win.

Good reserves saved the day for the Bronchos in the critical game of their schedule with Leyden last week. With Conn, Etters and Workman out on fous Graebenkort, Overhue and Wichman came through to win.

Tonight's Outlook

Besides the Barrington game tonight we find Palatine traveling to Bensenville, Arlington at Ela, Libertyville at Warren and Leyden entertaining Antioch. The first named teams in each case are favorites, but may have a tough time. This is particularly true of Arlington at Ela. In the last meeting the Cardinals had to make a comeback to win by two points and may not be so fortunate tonight.

Arlington went in for bargain rates last Friday when they offered two games followed by a dance for 35 cents a family. We don't know the attendance, but the Bensenville fans who followed their teams certainly received a bargain with two victories thrown in. It was the best night of the season for the Bisons.

Lights Battle Tonight

The Palatine and Bensenville lights will be playing for second place tonight as the pair are tied in the standings. In their last meet the Bensenville lat's led by Kouzmanoff defeated the Pirates.

By scoring eight points against Warren, Francis Reuse, the Palatine captain and 6 ft. 3 in. forward, was the first conference player to reach the 100 point in scoring for the season. Stickels of Libertyville is still 16 points from that mark and Matussek of Leyden is 19 points away.

Elgin lost their first game of the season last week to Joliet. The loss of two regulars by mid year graduation has hurt the Elgin team which had an imposing string of victories to its credit. Elgin looks like an outstanding favorite to win the Crystal Lake tourney this year.

Wheeling Hockey Team Wins Two Games 4-1, 1-0

Wheeling Bears hockey team won two games last week, defeating Deerfield Juniors 4-1 Wednesday night and Deerfield Seniors 1-0 Sunday. In Wednesday's game Oscar Laurance scored 2, John Barza 1, Douglas Carzill 1.

Sunday's game was almost without a score until Douglas Carzill counted in the third period. The Sunday lineup included John Barza, Douglas Carzill, Edward Rutkofski, Melvin Becker, Charles Cokenow, and Oscar Laurance.

Palatine Grade Boys Lose in Tourney

Boys who played on Palatine's grade school team which lost to Dundee in a tournament at Dundee this past week are Russel Golden, center and captain, Michael Vlasaty guard, Ray Heiden guard, Jack Greener guard, Clifford Wentz guard, Bobby Stewart guard, Marvin Sink forward, Bill Burk forward, and Charles Buzenow forward. Ray Hahnfeldt, start forward, could not play because he was sick.

BARRINGTON WINS 28-26 IN OVERTIME

PIRATES WIN FROM WARREN AT PALATINE

10 Points in Last Quarter win 27-13; Palatine Lights Victorious.

Barrington's Broncos practically clinched a conference title Friday night by defeating Leyden 28-26 in an overtime game. Two clear free throws by Wichman of Barrington tied the score 24-24 in the final second of the last quarter after a wild four minutes during which Leyden led.

In the overtime period Mullen kamp and Overhue each scored a basket for Barrington, and Chapp scored once for Leyden.

Tonight Barrington plays at Wauconda, next week the Bronco fives are hosts to Warren, and following that the conference season closes with Barrington playing at Palatine. A Bruno victory in that final game will give Barrington a clear championship, a defeat will the Barrington and Palatine for conference honors.

Barrington stepped off to an 8-4 lead in the first quarter Friday, and shortly before the half time was leading 17-8 when Leyden's Eagles flashed through the Bruno defense to score six points in a minute and end the half with Barrington still leading 17-14.

With Chapp and Kodon leading the offense, the visitors gave Barrington a fight. The score was 22-21 when the final period opened, and this was quickly tied at 22-22, with four minutes left a field goal by Chapp gave Leyden the lead. Rough playing resulted in numerous fouls, which, like the hurried attempts at field goals, were missed until Wichman tied the score.

He had gone in after Workman had fouled out after the first five minutes of the third quarter. Conn and Etters went out on fous early, Reserves finished the game without trouble despite a Warren rally of 8 points on long shots in the last period.

The Palatine lights had little trouble with Warren as they piled up a 13 to 2 lead in the first half.

Last Home Game Tomorrow

Wisconsin's basketball team played its last home game tomorrow night against Indiana in the field house at Madison. In their game with Minnesota last week the Hoosiers sank 51 per cent of their shots in the first half, and counted with five of their first six tries.

Referee: E. G. McLean (Elgin). Umpire: Robert Ballard (St. Charles).

Referee: C. Smid, of Chicago.

Table Tennis Fans Will Play At Des Plaines March 2, 3

Eight Girls Teams To Be In Tourney

Eight suburban girls basketball teams will compete in a tournament March 1 and 2 sponsored by the Elks March 2 and 3, at Des Plaines. A large delegation will represent Arlington in the four divisions of this tournament, men's singles, men's doubles, women's singles and boy's singles championships.

Diederich reached the eighth final in the 1934 tournament before elimination in the men's singles.

Table tennis fans of the northwest area will anticipate the playing of 11 year old John Moodie, stand-out of last year's tournament. Moodie reached the finals of the boy's event last year, losing to Allen Christiansen of Park Ridge. Christiansen plans to compete in the men's division this year.

Women contestants from Arlington in the 1934 matches were Berrie Diederich and Jean Hanauer. Miss Diederich lost in the finals to June Bollinger of Des Plaines after defeating Miss Hanauer in the semi-finals.

The tournament will be held in the auditorium of the Temple building in Des Plaines. Opening sessions are Saturday afternoon, continuing Saturday night and winding up in the final Sunday afternoon. Entry blanks may be secured from the Arlington Table Tennis club or by writing Franz Kocher, tournament chairman, at Des Plaines. Entries will close February 27.

The Palatine elementary school first team lost to Barrington 12-7.

AMERICAN LEGION PRINCIPLES

Quite a number of people have the idea that the sole purpose of the American Legion is "horseplay." This impression was gained by the newspaper publicity given to the "horseplay" of Legionnaires at their state and national conventions.

It is true that one of the aims of the Legion is to have good times at meetings and conventions. In order to get members when the Legion first organized it was necessary to stress the social side; because after all it was rather a hard job to sell the Legion idea as most ex-service men wanted to forget the war as soon as possible. Membership grew slowly at first and most of that growth could be attributed to the publicity given the horseplay of Legionnaires at conventions—for after all what is a man—but an overgrown boy—and normal boys are interested most in having a good time.

Don't think for a moment that the bigger things in life were overlooked by the organizers of the American Legion. Evidence of this is in the Preamble to Constitution, "For God and country, we associate ourselves together for the following purposes: To uphold and defend the constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate a one hundred per cent Americanism; to preserve the memories and incidents of our association in the great war; to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation; to combat the autocracy of both the classes and masses; to make right the master of might; to promote peace and good will on earth; to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of Justice, Freedom and Democracy; to consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness."

As membership grew and the Legion became stronger the real aims of the Legion began to assert themselves. Such institutions as the School at Normal, Illinois, for orphans of the ex-service men, hospitals for insane ex-service men, such as at Elgin, Cathey Farm, at Palos Park, for convalescent shell-shocked and wounded buddies, and many other similar institutions situated throughout the country are in existence because of the efforts of the Legion.

Recently the Legion has espoused such American ideas as Universal Draft and legislation to the effect that aliens able to read English as well as speak it, this a pre-requisite to naturalization. And then there is the idea which has been so forcefully impressed upon the Legion by our National Commanders, Frank Belgrano, namely "there is but one ism" and that is Americanism.

These definitely show the aims of the Legion— promulgation of American ideas, ideals and institutions and in the convention at Miami last fall the following Legion policy was adopted.

"Resolution No. 234, being a statement of policy adopted at all of the Area Conferences of the American Legion and by your National Convention, which is as follows:

In order that the American people may—in the crossfire of publicity sponsored by certain groups and organizations—under-

BEAUTIFYING SCHOOLS

SCHOOL ought to be a lovely place. Children thrive best in beautiful surroundings. That does not mean elegant surroundings. Things can be beautiful without being elegant, or expensive, or loud. Beauty is always best when dressed in simplicity.

A school building ought to be long and low, spread out on the grass like a brooding hen. Vines should dress the walls and old trees shade its grounds. Flowering shrubs should smuggle in the corners where children's feet do not reach them, and tucked in about their roots the spring bulbs should flourish.

The inside of the building is where children live. That means it should be as beautiful as it can be made without becoming obviously decorated.

I think there ought to be one good picture in every room. I like that picture to be the one that appeals strongest to the children who use that room. Pictures ought to inspire the children, so they must be those that the children can read. They can only read a picture that calls upon their experience and their dreams.

I would not have a lot of children's heads they cannot hang their things on them and they use the floor instead. Whatever makes for cleanliness, order, convenience, and comfort will make the classroom and the school a beautiful place to live. This is a good time to check up on paint and washing powders, furniture and equipment. Where the children live ought to be a place of beauty.

The walls, the floor, the ceiling and the woodwork, all ought to be clean as brush and cleansing water can make them. The furniture should be smooth, its fair surface unmarred. The chairs and benches ought to be comfortable. It costs no more to supply a comfortable bench than to buy one that makes a child punch and huddle and squirm to find a comfortable angle in it.

There must be plenty of light and air. A dark room with poor ventilation is never beautiful. The closets and wardrobes should be sufficient and they should be convenient.

First, let us make them clean. The walls, the floor, the ceiling and the woodwork, all ought to be clean as brush and cleansing water can make them. The furniture should be smooth, its fair surface unmarred. The chairs and benches ought to be comfortable. It costs no more to supply a comfortable bench than to buy one that makes a child punch and huddle and squirm to find a comfortable angle in it.

The same right you have, Reddy Fox, is Repetition.

We advocate a law of universal draft: It will take the profit out of war and thereby aid in preventing war. In the event of war it will equalize the economic and physical burden upon all the people, and it will make our national effort unified and effective. Post war inflation with its ruinous results will be obviated.

The National Rehabilitation committee, after 15 years of effort to aid human stabilization in the aftermath of war, deeply and sincerely advocates the adoption by the Congress of a fair and equitable plan for the utilization of all resources in national conflict, with equal obligation for all and with special profit and privilege for none.

The Legion has for 1935 a definite 4 point program. In successive articles in the Herald, individual members of the post will take up these four points in detail.

We believe the legislative program is important and the points covered vital to the community and nation. Citizens in this community are invited to read and comment on them through the columns of this paper. This is a courtesy granted us by the Paddock publications which have at all times supported the Legion 100 per cent.

"We may call it hard times," says observing Olivia, "but try and find a parking space in what we used to call a one-horse town."

Congressman Busy

RALPH E. CHURCH, Congressman from the tenth district of Illinois, has been given a third committee assignment, that to the committee on revision of laws. Previous assignments placed him on the committee on patents and the committee on naval affairs.

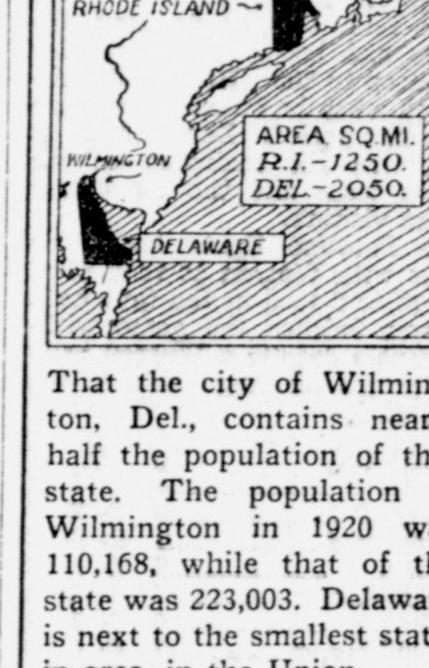

Abraham Lincoln, presidential nominee in 1860, was born in the log cabin above while his running mate, Hannibal Hamlin, claimed the mansion at right as his birthplace, which caused many Easterners to dub the Republican slate the "Upside Down Ticket," according to Louis A. Warren, student of Lincoln lore for the Lincoln National Life foundation.

"Although Lincoln and Hamlin were the same age, a comparison of their political achievements up to 1860 shows to the great disadvantage of Lincoln," says Dr. Warren. Hamlin had served two terms in the congress, 12 years in the senate, and been governor of Maine. Lincoln had one term in Congress.

The Household

By Lydia Le Baron Walker

That the city of Wilmington, Del., contains nearly half the population of that state. The population of Wilmington in 1920 was 110,168, while that of the state was 223,003. Delaware is next to the smallest state, in area, in the Union.

When a room has to serve a double purpose and it can be, by any means not undecorative, be divided so that there is separate space about each part, both comfort and spaciousness are conserved. Just how the semi-separateness can be managed depends upon the architectural features of a room, as well as the ways and means at the disposal of the occupant. It is not suggested that a partition be built for the division. This is frequently done in office buildings, but rarely in homes. Decoration is not fostered by such means, although in an office it is eminently practical. In a home other measures should be used, preferably.

Successful Two-Room Effect.

I know of one woman, whose one room is longer than it is wide, who feels the individuality of each part of the room through having a high four-fold Japanese screen for a partition wall. One window comes in each of these divisions sections. A davenport bed, and a Martha Washington table with drawers in it, and a mirror above against a handsome hanging, supply a sitting room and an unrecognizable bedroom in one part of the room. In the other is her hidden workroom entirely different in character, yet not out of keeping with the other part, so that, on occasions, she folds the screen and puts it in the corner of the room or in her closet (off the workroom portion) and makes one large room of two parts. The success of this screen partitioning is excellent.

Toledo (Ohio) police guard equipment in a plant disguised as a lithograph establishment but in reality a counterfeiting plant. Federal agents raided the plant on charges that hundreds of thousands of counterfeit $1 and $5 notes were printed there. The agents said that they had never found a more elaborate counterfeiting plant or more expert duplication of treasury notes.

REDDY FOX QUARRELS FOOLISHLY

AS REDDY FOX sat glaring up at Terror the Goshawk, whose arrival from the Far North had spoiled Reddy's hunting in the Green Forest, he grew angrier and angrier. He grew so angry that presently he walked over until he was almost under Terror the Goshawk.

"What right have you down here in the Green Forest?" he snarled.

"The same right you have, Reddy Fox," retorted Terror.

"It's no such thing," snapped Reddy. "You haven't the same right here I have. You belong up in the

"Huh!" retorted Reddy Fox. "Talk is cheap."

Far North, while I live here all year round. Why don't you stay where you belong?"

"Since when have you owned the Green Forest?" retorted Terror. "I would have you know, Reddy Fox, that I go where I please. I have found very good hunting here these last few days, and I think I shall stay the rest of the winter. What are you going to do about it?" That question was too much for Reddy Fox. If Terror had been a four-legged person like himself there might have been ways to make things most uncomfortable for him. As it was, there wasn't a single thing Reddy could do, and he knew it.

"You're a great, big bully and coward," snarled Reddy. You know it is an easy matter to call people you hate bad names.

Terror merely chuckled and made Reddy angrier than ever. "So I'm a coward, am I?" said Terror. "Think again, Reddy; think again. It is I fear nothing and no one. Just to settle the question I dare you to go up to Farmer Brown's and steal a chicken from his henhouse while he is about."

"That's a silly idea," snarled Reddy. "You are daring me to something you don't dare to do yourself. You know well enough you'll keep away from that henhouse as long as Farmer Brown is about."

"Is that so?" snarled Terror. "I never boast," he declared. "I dare you to go to Farmer Brown's henhouse right now and prove who is the coward."

"Huh!" retorted Reddy Fox. "Talk is cheap." He said this with an unpleasant sneer.

Terror's fierce eyes blazed with rage. "I never boast," he declared. "I dare you to go to Farmer Brown's henhouse right now and prove who is the coward."

Reddy Fox couldn't very well back out. He tried to think of an excuse, but the life of him he couldn't. "All right," said he, "I'll take your dare."

Corn-Hog Meetings Start Tuesday

FIRST SESSION AT ARLINGTON VILLAGE HALL

Buttermilk Corners Meeting is Next Friday
Afternoon

Information and sign-up corn-
ings meetings for the 1935 season will be held next week, with the first session at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the Arlington Heights village hall. The second meeting for farmers in the northern part of the county will be held at 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon at Buttermilk corners, Higgins and
Roselle roads.

Down-country farmers will have
their first meeting at 1:30 o'clock
Wednesday afternoon in the hall
above the James Creer store in Orland Park, and their second meeting at the same hour Thursday afternoon in the Farm Bureau office in Blue Island.

Farmers who produced 10 or more acres of corn or raised hogs
last year are eligible to sign
whether or not they signed last year, stated O. G. Barrett, Cook county farm adviser in announcing the meetings. He urged all farmers to attend the meetings to learn the provisions of the plan regardless of whether or not they signed later.

The AAA's corn-hog contracts
are somewhat changed from last year, said Mr. Barrett. In most cases the contract has been liberalized.
The details will be discussed at these meetings.

Baggage and luggage mean exactly the same. The word baggage is in general use in the United States, while in England luggage is usually used.

Tomorrow is Deadline For Ordering Seed Oats From Local Farm Bureau

Farmers wishing to procure seeds from the government must file their orders at the Cook county farm bureau office not later than tomorrow, states
O. G. Barrett, county farm adviser. Oats for shipment into counties affected by the drought last year are being purchased by the government for sale at 75 cents per bushel plus 1 cent per bushel per month additional after February 1.

The amount required for Cook county must be known tomorrow.
The seeds are being procured by C. H. Humphrey, director of the Agricultural Drought Service of Illinois cooperating with the federal department of agriculture.

Cow 'Models' Change, Efficiency Favored For Herds of 1935

Cow "models" have changed, too, with the coming of the new year, according to J. G. Cash, assistant in dairy extension at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

Grain prices are now so high in relation to the prices of dairy products that hundreds of cows are being "scrapped" every month because they are unable to show a profit on the more expensive feed, he reported. In one recent monh dairymen who are members of dairy herd improvements associations sponsored by the agricultural college called out 432 cows because they were unprofitable producers under existing feed prices.

A year ago, when grain prices were more favorable, many such cows were able to stay on the profit side of the line, but only the more efficient "model" of cows can keep up the pace now, Cash pointed out.

FARMERS — ATTENTION

IT'S EARLY IN THE SEASON, yet many of our old customers and many new ones, are coming in to see us about loans to enable them to make a better start for this year. Already we have loaned money to farmers this year,

To buy horses
To buy feed
To buy seed oats

To pay household and farm running expenses
until income starts

To hold onion sets for better price

To buy cows

To get tractor and tools in shape for spring work

To rent additional land

IF A HUNDRED DOLLARS, or two hundred, or any amount up to three hundred, will help you over a tight place, come in and see us. Costs nothing to find out all about it. We want to serve you only if our dealings will be profitable and satisfactory to you.

AVIATION

By Lt. (jg) George A. Kloepfer
Naval Reserve Aviator

On December 17th, 1934, the entire Nation paid tribute to Orville Wright and Wilbur Wright, co-inventors of a motor driven man carrying air-craft successfully flown by Orville Wright for the first time just thirty-one years ago.

As a signal honor to these two men, all available Army, Navy, Marine and Coast Guard planes were flown over their home airports or nearby cities; almost 7,000 commercial planes from about 1400 airports answered the call of the Aeronautics Division of the Department of Commerce by taking to the air in this "flight of remembrance."

In order to better understand the significance of this mass flight, let us go back to the year 1903, to a small barren hill at Kitty Hawk, North Carolina. Here we learn that these two brothers have been flying successfully in man carrying gliders, at this same place, at

MOUNT PROSPECT

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Pankonin spent Sunday in Chicago visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Kohlhase entertained friends on Saturday evening in their home on Edwards street. Bridge was the game of the evening with Mr. H. Wilder winning high honors.

Mrs. C. Kohout entertained her card club on Wednesday.

Mrs. Chas. Verret, Mrs. J. Bernhard and Mrs. E. M. Luckner attended Cook county council on Friday.

Harold Busse, who lives at 304 Evergreen, celebrated his eighth birthday on Feb. 12, by asking ten of his friends to come in and have a happy time. Gifts and refreshments were plentiful.

Miss Myrtle Frey and nephew, Robert Luckner visited Miss R. Krievanek on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Tuttle entertained friends on Saturday evening.

Billie Avery has entered first grade in St. Paul's Lutheran school and likes it just fine.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Bernhard attended the Belgrano dinner at Hotel LaSalle Monday.

Mrs. Herman Scharringenhausen held a quilting bee in her home on Evergreen on Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Ernest Wolf attended Mother's club of the M. E. church held at the home of Mrs. H. Ashton in Stonegate. Mrs. Hayes of the high school faculty spoke on "The Teaching of Patriotism" to our children.

Depression is over in Mt. Prospect. Notice the number of new cars purchased by our villagers recently. Mr. Otto Landeck has a new Pontiac sedan; Mr. Emmett Worley a new Dodge; Marvin Kohlhase a Chevrolet sedan, and Harold Durlands have a new Oldsmobile.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Marbach had as visitors on Tuesday evening Mrs. Walton and daughter, Lucille, of Park Ridge.

V. F. W. Auxiliary
News Notes

The Ladies' Auxiliary to Prospect Post No. 1337, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will hold their social evening this week Friday, Feb. 15, 1935, at the home of Mrs. Dora Schramm.

After a short business meeting cards will be played and refreshments served. We will also have our guessing contest, which has proved so popular, and the proceeds of which are put into our cigarette fund.

The big event of the winter will be the Pre-Lenten dance, the same to be held at the V. F. W. clubhouse on Saturday, March 2. All the proceeds derived from this dance will be put into the relief fund and will be used expressly for that purpose. The Auxiliary has done much in the form of relief for families in distress, widows and orphans of deceased veterans, the disabled vet, and many more.

We will continue to make collections of old magazines, old silk stockings, empty spools, jig saw puzzles, etc., and at intervals, will deliver them to the various veterans hospitals.

The new officers for the Ladies' Auxiliary to Des Plaines Post No. 2992, were elected at a meeting held at the V. F. W. club rooms in Des Plaines, Monday, February 11. Mrs. Meigraun, temporary chairman, turned the meeting over to Mrs. Omelia Flesch, president of the Mt. Prospect V. F. W. Auxiliary, who in turn, acted as the presiding officer, with Mrs. Emma Holste as temporary secretary to the Des Plaines Auxiliary during their election. Mrs. Cora Pingel accompanied them.

Mrs. Adolph Lanctot was elected president. The Mt. Prospect V. F. W. Auxiliary wishes them much success and sincere wishes for a most prosperous year. There are approximately fifty names signed up for the charter to this auxiliary.

Night Shooting Banned

The law regulating the shooting of game in California places ban on the use of chemicals and night shooting.

The Detroit River

The Detroit river issues from Lake St. Clair, flowing southward to form part of the boundary between Michigan and Ontario, and enters Lake Erie near the western end, 18 miles below the city of Detroit. It is about 27 miles long and varies in width from one-half to three miles.

The troop has been having a busy week celebrating anniversary week. Friday night, more than a hundred attended the opening of the celebration. The program included the president's address.

Saturday the troop had a turnout of 18 on a hike to the Des Plaines river where a camp site was selected and the ice was cleared and everyone enjoyed skating.

Sunday, 16 Scouts attended church services.

Tuesday, the regular night for the troop's meeting, had a few extra events. Six boys tied on a pair of gloves and had a lively evening boxing. Bob Carl and Dudley Budlong started it off, then Bradley Jones and Homer Avery went to it, and then Jack Gehring and Irving Gadski finished it. All three ended in draws. A contest between the first aid teams made the evening complete.

Mr. Hayes, instructor of history at the Arlington Heights high school will talk on current events.

This is particularly true of the re-to the Legionnaires in his or her neighborhood. We have no secrets, we want everyone to know all about the American Legion. The so-called Legion Lobby mentioned now and then in your newspapers is very much misunderstood by the average person. The belief seems to exist that we have hundreds of men in Washington waiting on the doorstep of our senators and congressmen. Instead we have only one small committee called our legislative committee. The entire power and authority of this Legion committee comes from the eleven thousand posts made up of over one million men in the American Legion. This committee presents to the senators and congressmen the mandates of these million men backed by facts and figures. Every one of these mandates originates in some local post of the American Legion and from there passes on to district, county and state, and finally to our national convention. As you can readily see, nothing but the very finest representative resolutions could carry through these various steps to become a mandate of our national organization.

The Boy Scout drive to raise funds for the continuation of this work in the village is reported to be progressing very satisfactorily. All the teams are actively at work under their captains, who report almost one hundred per cent response on the part of those visited.

The drive began last Friday night and it is the hope of the teams and their captains to visit every house in the Village before the end of the drive Thursday night, the 14th. If any one has not been visited, he may do his part by getting in touch with the captain in charge of his section of the Village.

The organization and committees in charge of the drive are G. S. Crawford, chairman of the Boy Scout troop committee; Stephen W. Harrington, finance officer of the troop; and V. F. Weber, chairman of the Cub Pack committee. The captains in charge of the various sections of the Village are Louis Hollenbeck, East Side; F. O. Jostad, Manor; W. W. Lahti, Pick Subdivision; O. W. Holmgren, south side; and W. W. Weiss, business section.

Because of the difficulty in finding people at home in the evenings, the time when most of those working on the campaign can make their calls, the campaign will be continued through the week-end. The report to the REVIEW is that only about one-third of the Village has been covered to Wednesday.

The final check-up of all engaged in the campaign, will be on Monday night at 7:30 in the public school just before the Legion meeting. All those who have taken part are urged to make their final check up at that time.

We also give our entire support to the R. O. T. C. for here is an organization that builds and develops a boy in both body and mind. Sons of Legionnaires, likewise receive our unbiased attention for these boys will some day carry on in our work to make our communities better places in which to live.

I should like to point out that the American Legion is one of the organizations chartered by act of Congress. Furthermore we want you to better understand us and the service we are trying to render, and I wish every patriotic citizen would make it a point to talk to the R. O. T. C. here for we are an organization that builds and develops a boy in both body and mind. Sons of Legionnaires, likewise receive our unbiased attention for these boys will some day carry on in our work to make our communities better places in which to live.

I should like to close with this sincere message to you—we want you, we need you, every single American-minded citizen to help the Legion carry on for God and country.
